Rick and Virginia Hawthorne create miracles every day, and they have since 1980. This is the true story of two people who have helped thousands of children and young adults, handicapped and not, through the sport of equestrian vaulting. Their team, Valley View Vaulters, have captured medals of the highest rank consistently.

So what are the miracles? When someone rises from a wheelchair and is able to walk, it's a real life miracle. Kids who couldn't concentrate long enough to cross a room become international champions. Those with autism connect. And that's just the beginning.

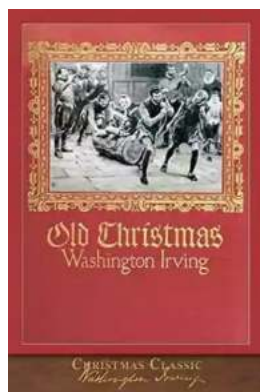

I would like to be able to offer this free to get their story out, but since I can't, all royalties will be donated to Valley View Vaulters..
