

The Easiest Early Intermediate Piano Classics To Moderns In Original Forms

Learning the piano is a wonderful journey that exposes us to a world of beautiful music. It allows us to express emotions, improve our cognitive abilities, and experience the joy of creating music. As a beginner or early intermediate piano student, it's important to start with pieces that are suitable for your level.

Why Choose Early Intermediate Piano Classics?

Early intermediate piano classics are pieces that are slightly more challenging than beginner-level music but can still be well within reach for a student who has developed some basic piano technique. These pieces are carefully selected to build upon the foundational skills acquired during the beginner stage.

By studying early intermediate piano classics, students can expand their technical abilities, improve their sight-reading skills, and build a repertoire of impressive pieces. These classics provide the perfect bridge between beginner and advanced level music.

The Moderns: Exploring Contemporary Piano Music

While it's important to study the works of classical composers, it's equally valuable to explore the modern works of contemporary composers. Modern piano music pushes boundaries, embraces new techniques, and offers a fresh perspective on musical interpretation.

Studying modern piano pieces not only exposes students to diverse musical styles but also challenges their musicality and interpretation skills. It encourages creativity and allows for personal expression, making it an essential part of a well-rounded musical education.

Top 5 Easiest Early Intermediate Piano Classics

Here are five piano classics suitable for early intermediate pianists:

Prelude in C Major by Johann Sebastian Bach

Written by the great Baroque composer, Johann Sebastian Bach, this Prelude is characterized by its simplicity and beautiful melodic lines. It provides an excellent opportunity for early intermediate pianists to develop hand coordination and explore different touch and articulation techniques.

The image displays the musical score for 'Prelude No. 1' from the Notebook for Anna Bach (WTK I.) by J.S. Bach. The score is written for piano in C major, 4/4 time. It consists of six systems of music, each with a treble and bass staff. The piece is characterized by its simple, elegant melody in the right hand and a steady, rhythmic accompaniment in the left hand. The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, and fingerings. The first system begins with a piano (p) dynamic marking. The piece concludes with a 'dim' (diminuendo) marking in the final system.
