- Fabric of your choice (choose colors and patterns that match your taste and existing decor)
- A pair of fabric scissors
- A hot glue gun (make sure to handle with caution and follow safety instructions)
- A needle and thread (matching the fabric or a contrasting color, depending on your preference)
- A button or decorative embellishments (optional, but it can add a touch of glamour to your flower)

Step-by-Step Instructions

Now that you have gathered all the required materials, let's get started with creating your very own layered flower:

1. Begin by cutting out circles from your fabric. You will need six circles of decreasing sizes, with the largest one measuring approximately 4 inches in diameter, and the smallest one around 1 inch in diameter.
2. Take the largest circle and fold it in half, then fold it in half again to form a shape that resembles a quarter of a pie.
3. For the remaining five circles, fold each one in half, then fold it in half a second time.
4. Using your needle and thread, sew a simple running stitch along the curved edge of each folded circle. Make sure to secure the thread at the end to prevent unraveling.

5. Hold the threaded circles and gently pull the thread to gather them, creating a layered effect. Be careful not to pull too tightly, as you want to maintain the round shape of each layer.
6. Once you've gathered all the circles, use your hot glue gun to secure the layers together. Start with the largest layer at the bottom and gradually stack the smaller layers on top, applying a small amount of glue between each one.
7. If you'd like to add a decorative embellishment to the center of your flower, now is the time to do so. Simply attach a button, bead, or any other embellishment of your choice using the hot glue gun.
8. Once the glue has dried, your layered flower is ready to be attached to a hat, dress, bag, blanket, or any other item you wish to adorn. You can use additional glue or sew it in place for extra durability.
