SIX CHILDREN...FIVE RACES...ONE MAN'S EPIC TALE OF TRIUMPH & TRAGEDY

In a saga ranging far and wide from the lush Hudson River Valley, to the shadowy recesses of the Antebellum South, as well as the distant shores of an uncharted and hostile desert isle off the coast of China and just about anywhere in between, all roads for the resourceful, adventurous and heroic William Henry “Whip” Wilde will ultimately lead to one place...the mighty Cedar Ledge Ranch and the formation of Arizona’s most unique and formidable family...The Wildes of the West!

This is his story.

1842: A grieving Lt. Whip Wilde sets sail on a voyage to the far side of the world in a desperate attempt to pull his life together for the sake of his children. However, aboard the Lafayette bound for China, the young officer is unaware he is squarely in the crosshairs of an old enemy out to end his life.

A world away, a brash, daring and very naked female pirate Meili Yau, with her quirky sense of right and wrong, has just stumbled across the opportunity of a lifetime to snatch away, for her pirate chieftain father, an unprecedented prize, from a ruthless band of rival pirates before they can complete their murderous scheme of high seas hijacking.

When their fates collide, these two very different mariners are thrown together on a desert isle and it is just a question of whether they will kill each other first before the looming threat of headhunters ends with their heads on a pike. Soon, amid a simmering, budding attraction, Whip and the pirate's daughter realize they have one simple choice: the volcanic couple must work together or die together on a deadly island that seems to promise no escape!

PLEASE BE ADVISED

Whip and his women's adventures, be it braving the sometimes-violent 19th century, or their sizzling escapades, are recommended for mature readers who, are 18+ years of age and above.
